IL PARMIGIANO REGGIANO

You've probably enjoyed Parmigiano Reggiano grated atop your pasta, salad, and more. But do you know how this world-renowned cheese is made and where it comes from? Known as the "King of Cheese," Parmigiano Reggiano can only be made out in five select provinces: Parma, Reggio-Emilia, Bologna, Modena, and Mantua. Approximately 350 small dairy farms produce more than 3.6 million wheels per year which are exported throughout Italy and the world.

Parmigiano Reggiano has a sharp and complex flavor. Its intense savoriness is balanced out by fruity and nutty notes.
